PRESENTATION

The spoken word is not always fully heard with only part of the message being understood, but by stimulating more senses, your words will be remembered. Therefore, a well arranged office, conference or meeting room is a decisive factor in ensuring a successful meeting.

Legamaster offer a wide range of whiteboards, pinboards and flipcharts that will help strengthen your spoken word and visually communicate your information. For every situation we offer a solution.

3 kinds of whiteboard surface:

The most important feature of a whiteboard is the surface. The best surface for your situation depends on how you will use the whiteboard. Herewith you find an overview with the characteristics and qualities of every whiteboard surface:

1 ☆☆☆☆☆ Enamel steel

- Quality of this surface: long-term intensive use
- The highest quality whiteboard surface, guaranteed for 25 years when used in conjunction with Legamaster accessories
- Ink wipes off easily, even after a prolonged period of time
- The surface is scratch resistant, therefore ink from markers used by mistake (e.g. permanent markers) can also be removed without damaging the surface
- The surface is acid resistant and withstands cleaning even with the toughest detergents
- The enamel steel Legamaster uses for its whiteboards has a high quality, very hard baked enamel finish, it is fired at 800°C
- Magnetic: information and written notices can be attached with magnets
- The enamel boards of Legamaster are provided with environmentally friendly certified e^3 ceramic steel

- Non-magnetic

On page 158 you find a whiteboard matrix, with all board details.

Method of handling and mounting:

The advantage of...

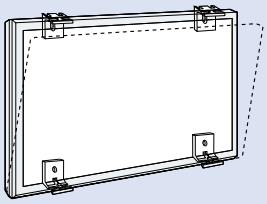
1 ... a “light-weight” whiteboard construction

This makes the board easier to handle, especially for the bigger sizes, offering a solution for walls that cannot carry much weight.

Light weight boards can be recognized by this icon

2 ... a “concealed slot system”

A concealed slot system provides you convenience, stability and flexibility.



Convenience:
The board has four slots so you can hang the board on the wall by placing it on the two lower slots, before you attach the two upper slots. This enables you in many cases to hang the board on the wall without assistance of a second person.

Stability and flexibility:
The four slots used for mounting the board can be placed at any horizontal position on the board. Ideal with partition walls where the horizontal position of the possible holes in the wall are limited! Besides that, bigger sized boards get more stability from the well-positioned slots, compared to a mounting only at the corners.

3 ... a “corner wall mount”

The board is mounted through the four corners, simply by using the included screws and plugs. Finally, the corners are covered by corner caps. After mounting, the screws and plugs are no longer visible.

4 ... block magnet mounted

Block magnets are the perfect solution for hanging boards on metal-system walls and partitions.

The board can be mounted without drilling holes, and there are no tools needed to attach the board. The self adhesive, magnetic blocks have high holding power – the attached board will not move. Block magnets are for boards with a steel backing only.

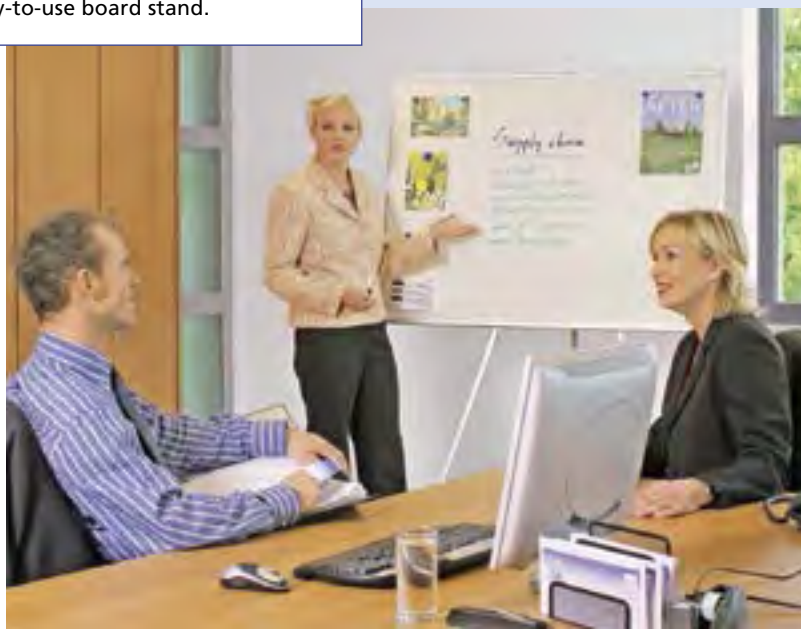
Mobilise your ideas with an easy-to-use board stand.



What to consider when buying a flipchart:

1 Base of the flipchart

Would you like a flipchart only for one room?
A tripod is an ideal solution, especially in a corner of the room. If you would like to have a flipchart which can easily be moved, for example to another meeting room, consider using a mobile version!

Limited space for a flipchart?
Look for a mobile flipchart and see the limited floor space these flipcharts require. Easily move your flipchart to another meeting room!

2 Writing surface of your flipchart

How often do you want to use the flipchart?
In case of frequent use we advise to consider the following ergonomic aspects:
- A height adjustable version
- A curved writing surface, which gives your hand support when writing

Would you like to use the flipchart as a whiteboard as well?
Especially the flipcharts with an enamel steel writing surface guarantee you a high quality whiteboard surface.

Would you like to attach cards or other things magnetically to the board?
Look for the feature magnetic board surface.

3 Extra features

Each flipchart has its own design with its own extra features. Take a careful look and make your choice:
- Extendable arms, to hang one or two sheets of paper beside the writing surface. This enlarges the space for information that you can give your audience by two or three times!
- A screw-on pad holder, or preferably, a pad holder which unfolds to hang flipchart pads up in seconds.
- Flexibility to suit all major standard pad formats.

Flipcharts Triangle

A triangle is the simplest geometric figure and is favoured in structures.

The triangle has the advantage that it will not change shape when the lengths of the sides are fixed. Because it is not easily deformed, the triangle is an extremely popular building shape. A famous example is the Eiffel tower.

The triangle shape is at the basis of the newly designed flipchart range. You will find it in the base of the tripods, as well as in the many elements of the construction.

The Triangle range of flipcharts offers stability, solidity and an attractive design at the same time!

WORKSHOP

Conducting successful meetings and brain-storming sessions is an art in itself and, unfortunately, in many instances the participant's involvement is often passive. The Legamaster workshop method offers a solution that allows all participants to take an active part in the discussion.

The workshop products offered by Legamaster make communication clear, visible and creative. With workshop boards, cases and accessories, it is easy to create an interesting environment for participants.

Legamaster

A workshop involves the structuring of a group meeting, be it a team meeting, management workshop or large group. This requires structure and the right tools.

Workshop structure

A business meeting can usually be divided into a "six-step workshop cycle". This produces a simple, logical sequence of actions that is easy for all participants to understand.

1 Getting started
The first thing to do is to inform participants about the purpose of the meeting.

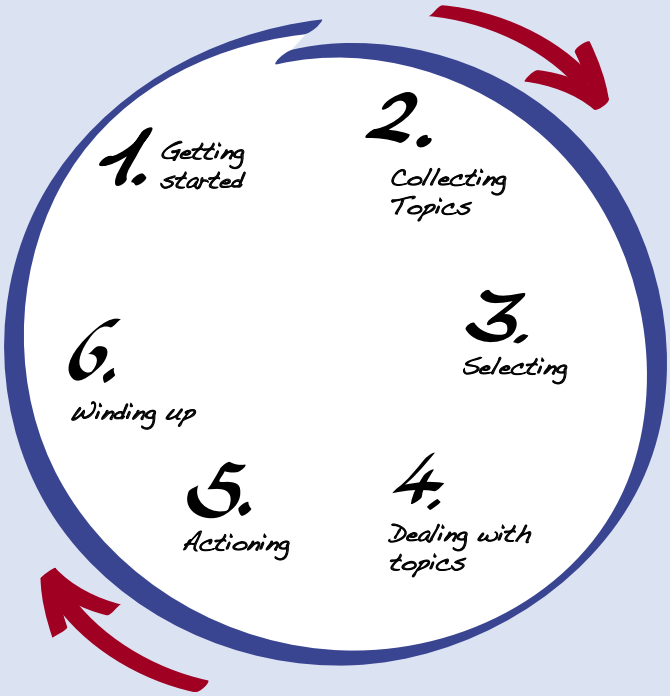
2 Collecting Topics
The point of brainstorming is to identify the topics to be discussed.

3 Selecting
During the third step, you select the order in which the various topics are to be dealt with.

4 Dealing with topics
The topics are discussed and dealt with in depth during this stage.

5 Actioning
Once the topics have been dealt with, you have to agree who is to action which topic, by when and to what end.

6 Winding up
At the end of the meeting, participants are asked whether they felt the meeting was constructive or whether they have any suggestions as to how things could / should / must be done next time.



Josef W. Seifert,
Moderator & Moderation trainer,
author of successful books on moderation,
managing partner of the consultancy and training company MODERATIO®

"A moderation process will invariably involve the use of Legamaster products! This is because professional performance can only be achieved with professional equipment; every professional knows this – from the tradesman to the musician, from the project leader to the moderator/ facilitator!"

Plan first, then act!

If you are wondering whether to hold an improvised meeting or prepare for it in advance, you may find the first option appealing, but the second is better!

The trick of a successfull business workshop is to approach a workshop exercise as a mini project, this will involve dividing the overall work process into sensible chunks (units).

So at the very least, you should draw up a brief workshop plan which sets out the objective for each of the six workshop steps, and the procedure or method you will be using to work or guide the group during each particular stage. You can then work consistently with the group using your plan.

PROJECTION

Each situation is unique and the choice for the right projection screen is influenced by factors such as ambient light, light output, projector set-up and the presentation room. Legamaster offers a wide range of projection screens. A solution for every situation.

See the difference

Choosing the right projection screen is extremely important!

1 Black border

The black border increases the perceived clarity of the projected image

2 Projection screen

With a projection screen, the visual information will be shown without any quality loss. The projected light will be reflected towards the audience.

ECONOMY projection screens

The 4 steps

The next 4 steps provide you with the most important selection criteria which will help you to choose the right projection screen, while taking your specific circumstances and needs into account.

1 Screen type

There are three projection screen types:

- Electrically operated projection screen
- Manually operated projection screen
- Mobile projection screen

A mobile (portable) projection screen is the best choice if a variety of locations are used for projection. However, if the projection room is permanent, then you may choose from an electrically- or manually operated screen. Depending on your personal preference and budget.

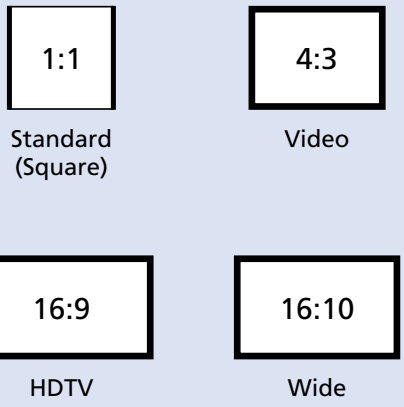
For special projection solutions, such as interactive projection, see page 81.

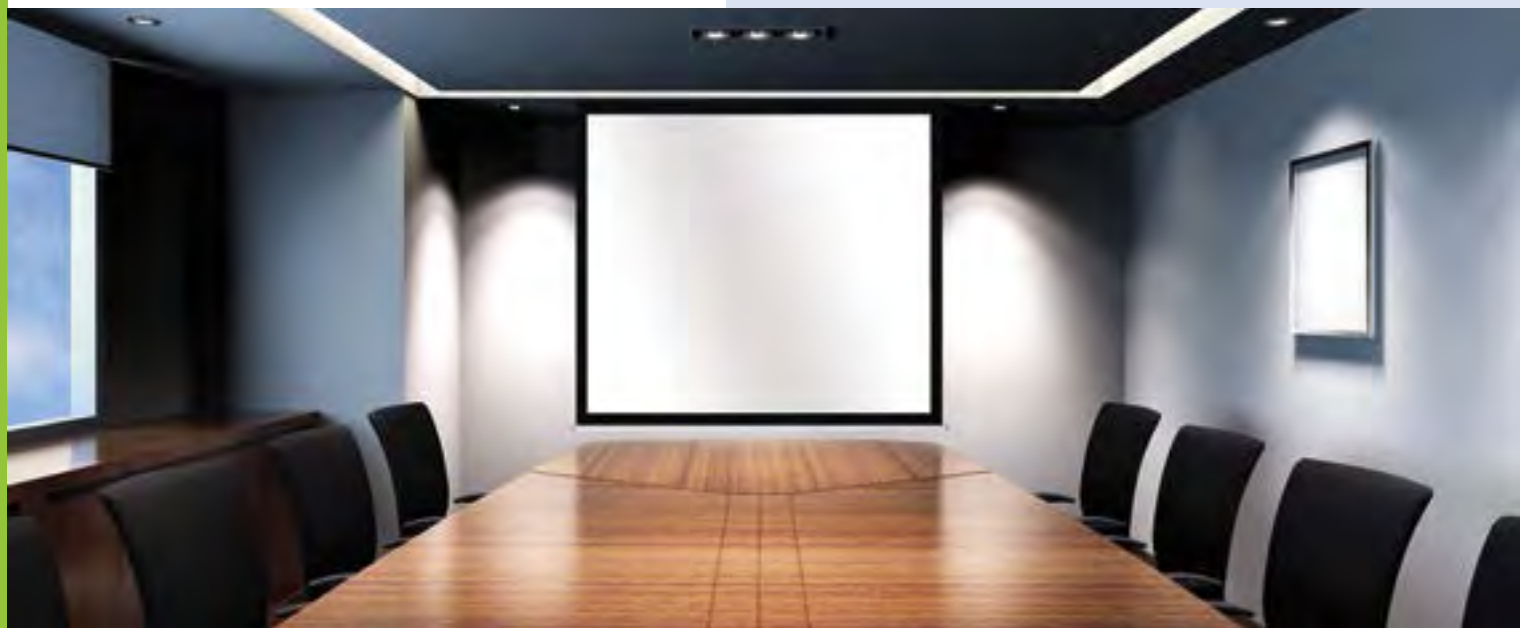
2 Aspect ratio

Depending on the projection method, the projected image will have a certain width / height ratio.

For the best results, we advise to select a projection screen with the same ratio as that of the projected image.

The following aspect ratios are distinguished:





3 Screen dimensions

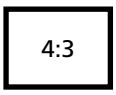
The dimensions and hanging position of the projection screen can be determined by following this guideline:

Dimensions of the projection screen

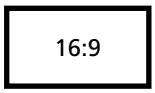
Height (X) of the projection screen =
1/6 of the distance from the projection screen to the last row of chairs.

width of the projection screen =

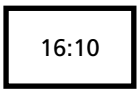
width = height



4:3 width =1.33 x height



16:9 width = 1.78 x height



16:10 width = 1.60 x height

Optimal viewing height

The most optimum distance from the bottom of the projection screen to the floor is:

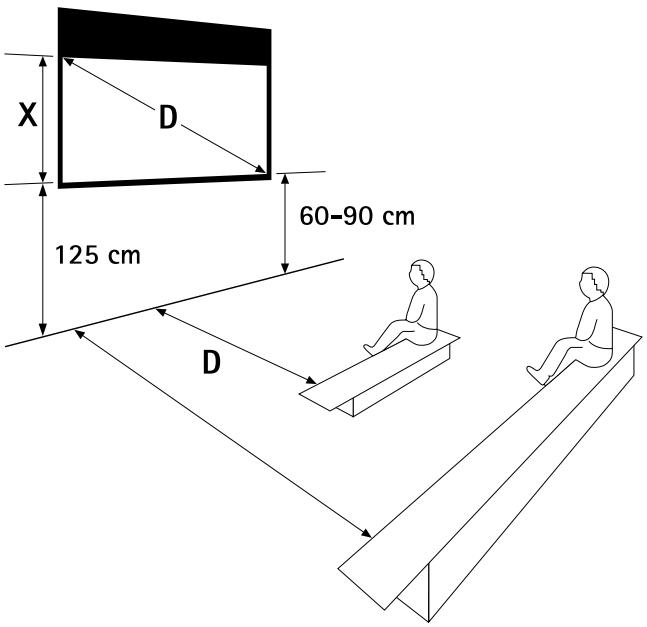
In case of:

Professional use = approximately 125 cm
Home Cinema use = minimum 60-90 cm

Minimum viewing distance

The optimum perception of the projected image is determined by:

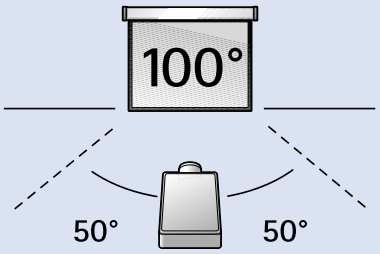
Distance to the first (D) row of audience = diagonal (D) dimension of the screen



4 Choosing the right screen fabric

Please choose from the screen fabrics as described below. Please take into account primarily the light output of the projector, the ambient light, the position of the projector (on the ceiling or placed at seat height) and the layout of the presentation room.

Wide viewing angle 100°
Matte white



Legamaster projection screen fabrics:

A diffusion projection screen surface spreads the light evenly and has a wide viewing angle.

Within the diffusion screen fabrics we offer the following screen fabric types:

– Matte white
– Matte white high gain

Suitable choice for projection settings that require a wide viewing angle (max. 50° L/R) or in which a projector with a high light output is used. A diffusion screen fabric can also be used in situations in which the projector is placed at seat height or where the projector is mounted on the ceiling.

PROFESSIONAL and PREMIUM projection screens: screen fabrics are tested for fire resistance and meet the norm B2.

Screen fabric	Gain	Viewing angle L/R	Fire safety
Matte white High Gain	2.2	70°	B2
Matte white	1.0	120°	B2

At the screen pages you can find the screen fabric per screen.

Easy Install

Flexible installation with Easy Install

The variable hanging system ensures that the Legamaster projection screens are easy to install.*

Easy Install results major time savings and this naturally also results in reduction of the installation costs.

Easy Install is an absolute improvement in the ease of installation for the professional market. Thanks to the plug & play installation, consumers can easily install an electrical projection screen in their own homes.

1 Simplicity and ease

The principle behind Easy Install is simple.

First two brackets are mounted to the wall or ceiling, and then the screen can be easily slid into the brackets and secured with screws.

Even the largest screens can be quickly and easily installed using this system.

2 Flexible choice for drill holes

Thanks to Easy Install, the screen width no longer determines the position of the points of suspension. The mounting brackets may be mounted to the wall or ceiling within 50 cm of the two ends of the screen. It is also possible to make corrections either to the left or right after hanging.

This means the end of fixed drilling measurements. A Legamaster projection screen is easy to install and always hangs perfectly in no time.

3 Plug & play accessories

With the plug & play accessories, everyone can easily install an electrical projection screen:

connect the plug to the screen, conceal the wiring neatly in the end caps, and the projection screen is ready to use.

Legamaster products are very easy to install.

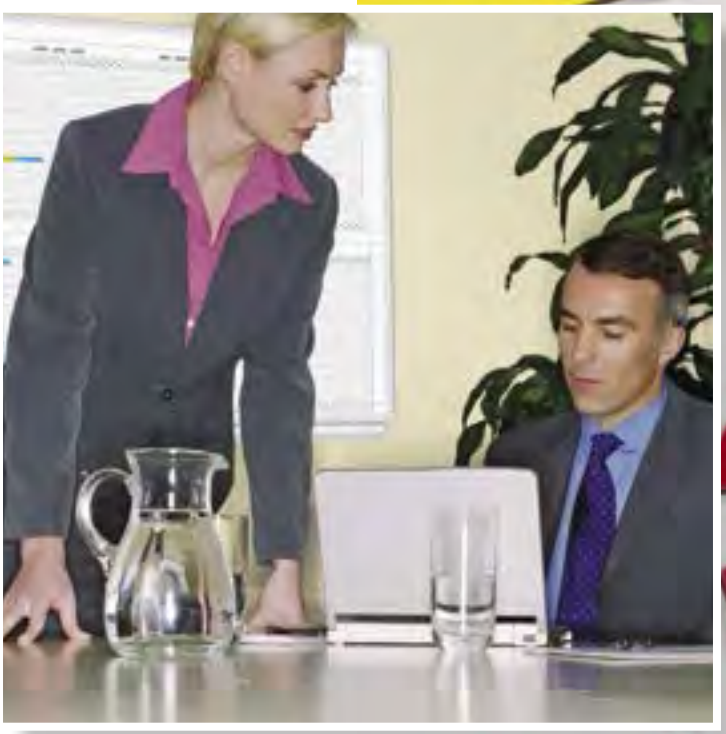
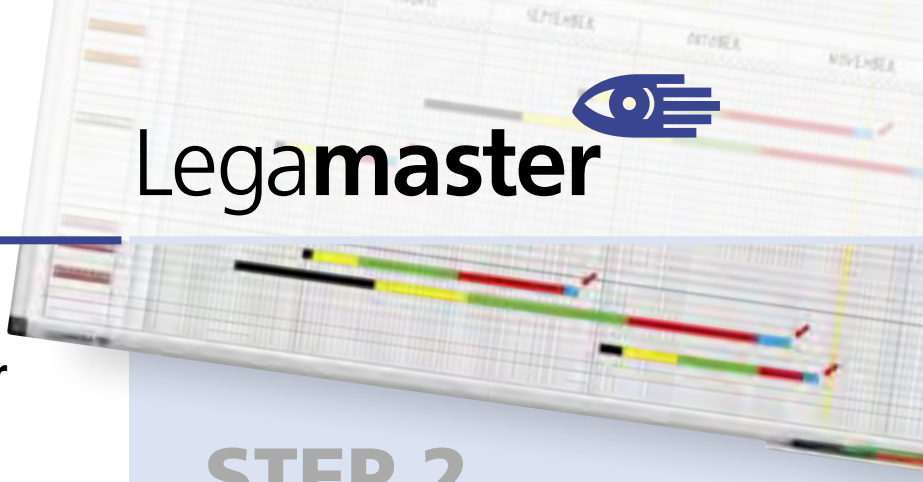
PLANNING

Managing is a question of looking ahead. Once you have determined your strategy, you must plan carefully and realistically. It is then a matter of keeping all those involved thoroughly informed about the objectives.

To realise your goals it is important to continuously visualise your planning in an up-to-date way, offering insight through overview.



Legamaster



Choose your ideal planner

STEP 1

Answer these three questions:

For what length of time do I need to plan?

How many people / objects / events do I want to display?

How much wall space do I have at my disposal?

STEP 2

Find the best planner to suit your needs:

Match your answers to the three questions with the table below, and place a cross in the appropriate right-hand box. Deciding which planner to choose should then be easy.

PLANNING

Slide index system

Whether you wish to show comprehensive staffing information or detailed room bookings (e.g. for conference rooms), the slide index system will bring order to the matter – and that's guaranteed! The system's modules are available in 3 different lengths and two widths and can be used in combination with each other, all come complete with their own device for attachment. One module can hold up to 60 cards providing a clear, colourful and structured overview.

If something changes, there's no problem: simply remove the card and holder from the rail and watch all the remaining cards simply slide down into place and fill the gap you have just created; new cards can also be added in the same way.

- Works on the basis of the "follow my leader principle" – order is maintained even if individual card holders are taken out
- No problems with combining modules
- Magnetic strips on reverse side to prevent modules from slipping
- Support rails made of anodised aluminium
- Comes complete with rail for mounting, fixing kit and card holders

How to use the system:

STEP 1

Choose the size T-card

T-cards come in 2 sizes, so choosing the size you want to use is your first decision.

STEP 2

Determine the number of slots

The planning system boards are assembled from vertical panels with slots for the T-Cards. The width of the planner panel will correspond with the width of the T-Cards you have chosen. You can choose from 3 panel heights and from 2 panel widths.

STEP 3

Determine the number of panels

Choose the number of panels based on how many days or tasks etc. your system requires.
